2007 SCHOLARSHIP WINNER ANNOUNCED

Minerva Valley customers who have an Internet account, dial-up or DSL, should be receiving a free copy of the magazine Website Compass free. This helpful publication is mailed out four times per year directly to your home.

The Website Compass is designed to help you in your Internet usage. Each issue is filled from front to back with information, tips and tricks to make surfing the web easier to do, and understand.

The latest issue concentrated many of the stories on "online auctions". The popularity of Ebay and bidding for things online has exploded and this particular issue helps online bidders win auctions, avoid fraud and generally have a better experience when buying or selling online.

All of the issues include a "frequently asked questions" section, fun and interesting sites to check out for the time of year it is and an Internet glossary to help you figure out what some of those confusing Internet terms mean.

The next issue should be coming to your mailbox in early July. Take a moment to take a look...you never know what you might learn!

Spyware: Software that secretly gathers user information and then transmits it to a third party via the Internet. It is typically bundled as a hidden component of certain freeware or shareware programs downloaded from the Internet.
